MATRIX PLUS PARTNERS WITH GATLIN INTERNATIONAL TO PRESENT ONLINE CAREER TRAINING COURSES

SYDNEY, Australia – Matrix Plus recently partnered with Gatlin International, the world’s largest elearning provider to governments, corporations and universities, to unveil new online career training courses. Available at <http://www.matrixplus.biz>, the certificate courses are open enrolment and cover healthcare and fitness, business and professional, IT and software development, management and corporate, media and design, skilled trades and industrial as well as hospitality and gaming.

Matrix Plus now offers non-credit courses that can help individuals at any stage of their career. Whether the student is interested in switching career paths, obtaining advanced training and certificates, or a first-time job seeker in need of specialized training, Matrix Plus and Gatlin International provide the necessary resources for workforce, corporate, vocational rehabilitation or individual career training, all from the convenience of your own home or office.

Gatlin International programs blend various types of instruction in a unique format that provides a logical, comprehensive and effective education. The typical course combines online instructional content, traditional textbook material and instructor-facilitated lessons. Though the courses are self-paced, personal instructors are available to guide every student. This blended learning differentiates Matrix Plus and Gatlin International courses from ordinary online courses.

“The dramatic growth in Internet access around the world has secured elearning as a viable tool in education,” said Gillian Duncan, managing director of Gatlin International. “Now Matrix Plus students can advance their skills and obtain career certificates through the convenience of working from their personal computer and at their own pace.”
